1. INTRODUCTION

This Annual Regulatory Plan of the General Administration of the State for 2024 has been approved by the Government in accordance with the provisions of article 25 of Law 50/1997, of November 27, of the Government. It contains the legislative or regulatory initiatives that the different ministerial departments plan to submit during said calendar year to the Council of Ministers for approval, as provided in article 2 of Royal Decree 286/2017, of March 24, by which The Annual Regulatory Plan and the Annual Regulatory Evaluation Report of the General Administration of the State are regulated and the Regulatory Planning and Evaluation Board is created.

As in previous years, the Plan has been coordinated by the Ministry of the Presidency, Justice and Relations with the Courts, and prepared based on the initiatives of the different ministerial Departments, by the Planning and Regulatory Evaluation Board, for its subsequent submission to the General Commission of Secretaries of State and Undersecretaries and the Council of Ministers for approval.

eleven

As the Annual Regulatory Plan for 2023 already warned, planning during the past year was necessarily affected by the different electoral processes that took place throughout the year. On the one hand, on May 28, local and regional or provincial elections were held in twelve Autonomous Communities, as well as in the Cities of Ceuta and Melilla; On the other hand, the following day, by Royal Decree 400/2023, of May 29, the Cortes Generales were dissolved and elections were called for July 23, also conditioning the regulatory and planning activity of the Government.

Despite the above, and following the line of the Annual Regulatory Plan for 2022, early processing of the 2023 Plan was also promoted, facilitating its approval at the beginning of that year. However, on this occasion, the early holding of the general elections in July, with the consequent previous electoral period, and the extension of the Government in office until the constitution of a new Government at the end of November of last year, prevented undertaking said procedure. advance. This has not prevented the Government from, once established, from undertaking the processing of the new Annual Regulatory Plan for 2024 as soon as possible, so that it can be approved in the first quarter of the current year.

In this way, it is intended to facilitate that, already in the first quarter of the year under planning (2024), both the Administration itself, as well as the different legal operators and individuals, can have a complete picture of the activity.

regulations that the Government intends to carry out during that year; with a forecast of the legislative and regulatory initiatives that, in each semester, are intended to be submitted to the Council of Ministers.

With this, the Annual Regulatory Plan fulfills one of its intrinsic purposes, which is to be, not only an instrument for planning the regulatory activity of the Government, but also transparency, to the extent that it ensures knowledge of said activity by citizens with sufficient notice, guaranteeing a predictable environment for the adequate taking into consideration of all the interests affected by the projected regulations; as well as for the control of the degree of compliance with the commitments identified by the Government program, and translated into the regulatory initiatives assumed in the Plan.

This desirable transparency and predictability of the Government's regulatory action takes on even greater meaning and interest at the beginning of a new legislature, as is the case this year, as it is the moment in which the Government assumes its main regulatory commitments. This does not imply, obviously, that said commitments are limited to those assumed in this Plan, since these are limited to those that are intended to be approved in this first year of the legislature; The Government's regulatory objectives for this entire period being much greater in ambition and scope.

However, as in previous years, annual planning must carry out a realistic forecasting exercise that delimits the objectives and regulatory projects for the year being planned, taking into account the commitments assumed, the status of the initiatives and the capabilities of the organization. Administrative organization. In any case, the Annual Regulatory Plan for 2024 is an ambitious Plan that contemplates up to 199 projected regulations, which are broken down and analyzed in the different sections of this instrument.

Among them, and also as in previous years, the planning of a good number of proposals and initiatives framed in the Recovery, Transformation and Resilience Plan, approved by the Council of Ministers on April 27, 2021 and by Decision of Implementation of the Council of July 13, 2021, following a favorable report from the European Commission; many of which have been reflected in the previous Annual Plans from 2021, until the last one in 2023, and have already been approved and implemented.

On June 6, 2023, Spain submitted a request to modify its Recovery, Transformation and Resilience Plan (PRTR), which included a REPowerEU chapter. This modification was approved by the EU Council on October 17, 2023. The plan now amounts to 163,014 million euros (83,160 million in loans and 79,854 million in subsidies) and covers 111 reforms and 142 investments. This is the Addendum to a more important recovery plan, due to the volume of funds requested, and consequently due to the ambition of the reforms and investments included in it.

Thus, the reformist impulse of the Recovery Plan is maintained during this year 2024, through the anticipated approval of numerous regulatory instruments, in compliance with the Council's Implementation Decision of October 17, 2023, by which modifies the Council Implementing Decision of July 13, 2021, regarding the approval of the evaluation of Spain's recovery and resilience plan.

Indeed, as already happened in the previous Plans, these initiatives constitute an essential vector, as regulatory instruments through which the ambitious program of structural and legislative reforms is implemented aimed at addressing the main challenges of our country that it contains. the Plan, as well as the investments to be made.

In this sense, it is worth remembering that the Recovery, Transformation and Resilience Plan, articulated around four transversal axes aligned with the strategic agendas of the EU, the 2030 Agenda and the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals, will guide the execution of up to 140,000 million euros of European funds that Spain will be able to receive until 2026. Of these, almost 70,000 correspond to non-refundable transfers, and a significant part of these resources will be mobilized throughout 2023; It is planned that during the period 2021-2026 ten lever policies will be financed according to the following distribution:

For this reason, the high number and percentage of regulations that respond to commitments or actions of the aforementioned Recovery Plan deserve to be highlighted, which in 2024 amounts to 36 projects (more than 18% of the planned initiatives), of which 11 are laws and 25 royal decrees.

Along with the relevance, per se, of this set of regulatory initiatives, the importance of their predictability through adequate advance planning must be highlighted, since the implementation of the Recovery, Transformation and Resilience Plan is intended to support the transformation of the set of regulatory initiatives. the economy, with the ultimate objective of recovering growth, promoting business creation and accelerating job creation.

This planning exercise is thus part of the policies to improve regulation – “better regulation” – and “intelligent legislation” – “smart regulation” – undertaken in within the OECD and the European Union, and its ultimate purpose is to guarantee that political decisions are adopted with the best possible socioeconomic knowledge and in an open and transparent manner, with the support of the broad participation of potentially affected.

Regulatory planning, with instruments such as the Annual Regulatory Plan and the evaluation report, is configured as a decisive instrument at the service of improving regulation in two essential areas.

On the one hand, it guarantees better compliance with the principle of legal certainty, also enshrined as a principle of good regulation in article 129 of Law 39/2015, of October 1, on the Common Administrative Procedure of Public Administrations, so that the direction of the evolution of the legal system can be reasonably predicted.

On the other hand, it favors citizen participation, by making the dates and deadlines for processing and approving a standard predictable.

The preparation and approval of this Annual Regulatory Plan, as in previous years, has been guided by the vocation to serve both principles, as well as to improve their degree of compliance and execution.

For this reason, some of the innovations already introduced in the latest annual plans have been maintained in this Annual Regulatory Plan, since the processing of the Plan for 2021, and whose effectiveness and usefulness have been proven, both for the planning agents and for the ultimate recipients of the Plan.

Thus, the 3-year planning effort, undertaken since 2021, continues, so that, in coherence with the budget planning deadlines, the proposing Ministries can harmonize the forecast of their regulatory objectives with the fulfillment of the general objectives of the department, three years ahead; Although in accordance with Royal Decree 286/2017, of March 24, only those regulations that the Government plans to approve in the planning year, 2024, are reflected in the Plan.

Likewise, in order to facilitate knowledge of the areas that will be subject to regulatory action during 2024, and, therefore, to improve the understanding and transparency of the Plan, in addition to presenting the set of regulatory initiatives that the Government plans to approve during said year, ordered by Ministries, a table of the corresponding initiatives organized by subjects or areas of action and another that addresses the axes of transformation of society that have guided the Government's actions since the beginning of the legislature are also included. .

In short, the approval of a new Annual Regulatory Plan, for the third consecutive year, in the first quarter of the year subject to planning, after some years plagued by difficulties and imponderables, undoubtedly consolidates the Annual Regulatory Plan as an authentic instrument for planning and improving regulatory quality, at the service of greater transparency, citizen participation and legal certainty, in order to guarantee a horizon of greater stability for all affected interests.

In this context, and inspired by the purpose of seeking the necessary transparency and legal certainty, the Annual Regulatory Plan for 2024 shows the main data the forecast of approving a total of 198 regulatory initiatives during the current year, of which 6 are organic laws, 43 are ordinary laws, and 149 are royal decrees.

Of them, as already mentioned, 36 (11 laws and 25 royal decrees) are regulations related to the Recovery, Transformation and Resilience Plan, which constitutes more than 18% of the total; a significantly higher percentage than in previous years.

The Plan also details the set of regulatory projects included that cause, or entail the incorporation into our internal legal system, of the Law of the European Union, and which on this occasion amount to 62, which represents almost a third of the total. of initiatives; of which 36, that is, 18% of the total, involve the transposition of European Union Directives.

Finally, the material areas in which greater regulatory action is expected during 2024 are Employment and Labor Relations, with 19 initiatives, and Justice and Environment, with 18; while, by Ministries, the 29 initiatives proposed by the Ministry for the Ecological Transition and the Demographic Challenge, and the 18 by the Ministry of the Presidency, Justice and Relations with the Courts and the Ministry of Labor and Social Economy stand out.

OF LAW
5INCORPORATION OF THE EUROPEAN UNION

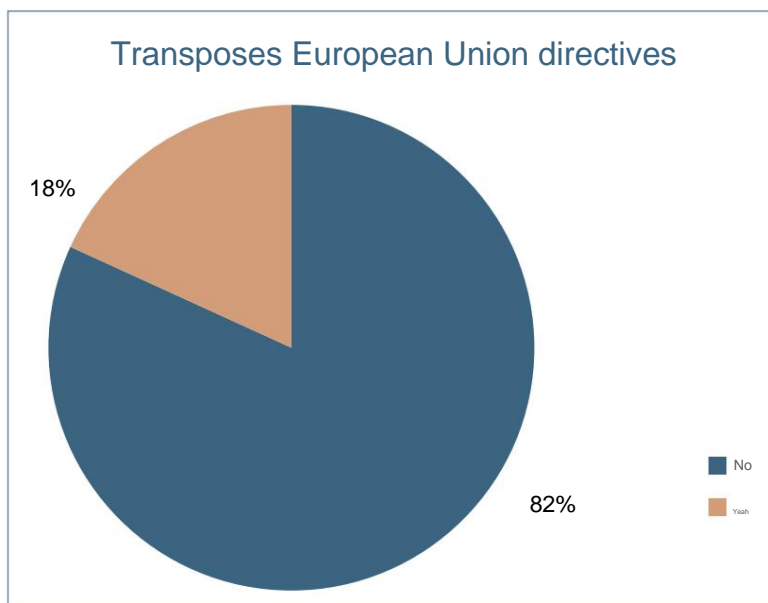

The content of the Annual Regulatory Plan also reflects the need to adjust the internal regulations to European Union Law. This requirement refers, firstly, to the transposition of the Directives whose incorporation period expires during the temporal scope to which the Plan refers, and, secondly, to those cases in which it is necessary to adjust the internal regulations to the community regulations, in aspects that go beyond mere transposition in deadline.

In this sense, a total of 62 regulatory initiatives provided for in the Plan incorporate European Union Law into our internal legal system.

LAW FOR THE TRANSFORMATION OF PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Objective: The recent Communication from the European Commission on Improving the European Administrative Area [COM (2023) 667 final, of October 25] points out that "in a rapidly evolving world, faced with complex economic, social, technological and environmental changes, As well as multiple transitions, high-quality public administrations are essential for good governance and for the effectiveness of the actions of the EU and the Member States. [...] The implementation of this political agenda depends on high-quality, innovative and resilient public administrations at all levels in the Member States.»

According to various international indicators, the Spanish administration has a good starting point to face this transformation, to the extent that it has highly qualified professionals and technological capabilities that allow it to take the leap to be included in the State group of the European Union with high administrative capacities.

The reinforcement of administrative capacities requires, first of all, complementing the classic organizational structure of the General Administration of the State with structuring by functions and processes; the requirement to act according to planning and direction by objectives; promoting the use of common services and building operational capacity reserves in order to make the organization more resilient to external impacts.

Secondly, this reinforcement must make it possible to make fully effective the rights of citizens to interact with the Administration, through the function of caring for citizens and the reinforcement of figures linked to it, an element that legitimizes reason itself. of being from public administrations. The Law eliminates obstacles, such as the mandatory nature of prior appointments, which during the crisis stage have been revealed to be highly dysfunctional in guaranteeing quality care.

Thirdly, the Law introduces into the field of public administration elements that favor innovation, through clauses for the creation of controlled spaces for regulatory and technological tests, in order to enable the controlled and delimited performance of tests that allow us to provide technological and regulatory-based innovations that can give rise to new regulations, applications, processes or products, and thereby contribute to a profound transformation of public administration.

Finally, the Law introduces mechanisms to ensure a more effective and efficient transposition of the Union's regulations into our domestic law, while reviewing the mechanisms for demanding financial liability for non-compliance with Union Law.

Ministry: DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION AND PUBLIC FUNCTION

OPEN ADMINISTRATION LAW

Objective: In Spain, the successive open government plans prepared after our incorporation into the Open Government Alliance in 2011 have led to a progressive maturity in open government policies, as well as in dialogue and joint creation with organizations and civil society foundations that have strengthened our civic space.

The Open Government Forum, a consultation and participation body that integrates all three administrations and civil society organizations and foundations on an equal basis, has become an international reference for States with a decentralized structure, which has deserved the recognition of our country to co-chair the Alliance itself during the period 2024-25 and hold the next World Open Government Summit in our country in 2025.

Leading by example in government and open administration requires addressing the legislative reforms committed to in the IV Open Government Plan, while laying the foundations for a General State Administration whose documentary systems must be conceived in a transparent manner. from the design, so that the full potential of the information society and artificial intelligence can be used to bring public administration closer to all citizens.

This is the path marked by the European Commission Report on the Rule of Law Mechanism, which calls for consolidating the progress in our country in terms of integrity, transparency and participation in public affairs.
